

“Our Common Agenda” Report of the Secretary-General

Acknowledgments and selected references

The Secretary-General's report on the “Our Common Agenda” was the result of a profound process of reflection, drawing on the contributions in writing and through discussions, brainstormings, presentations, dedicated research, and other formats of Member States, prominent thought leaders, young people and civil society, as well as the United Nations system, expert and eminent bodies, and researchers. The Secretary-General is very grateful to all those who participated in this process of reflection and contributed their ideas. They have directly informed his report and recommendations.

Below the United Nations wishes to acknowledge some of the written contributions made to the Our Common Agenda process, along with other sources that were drawn on in the report. This list is not exhaustive, and inclusion does not constitute endorsement by the Secretary-General or the United Nations.
