

United Nations Secretar,

êÿrø

n î ; @ Û ê r

Refrain from making any hateful comments yourself and/or relaying such content. Whether online or offline, we should all act responsibly to stop the spread of hate and misinformation.

To detect false and biased information, including hate speech propaganda, be sure to check the content's origin with the help of search engines, fact-checking tools and other reliable sources.

You can help raise awareness of hate speech -- online or offline -- simply by engaging with your family and friends in conversations about how hateful content can harm societies.

You can undermine hateful content with positive messages that spread tolerance, equality and truth in defense of those being targeted by hate.

Taking a public stand for, and extending solidarity to, people who are the targets of hate speech demonstrates that rejecting hate is the responsibility of every individual.

Most online platforms and communities have rules that

As the world's only truly universal global organization, the United Nations is the foremost forum to address issues that transcend national boundaries and cannot be resolved by any one country acting alone.

World history has shown us many times how hate rhetoric threatens democratic values, tolerance and social stability, and can lead to human tragedies, including genocide.

Hate speech and its consequences goes against fundamental UN values. It also undermines the UN Charter's core principles and objectives, such as respect for human dignity, equality and peace. As advancing human rights and fighting hate are at the heart of the UN's mission, the